LYCURGUS BARRETT - LOCAL EDITOR
WEDNESDAY, APRIL 5, 1882.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. J. S. Vaughn, is quite ill, but at this writing is better.
Hon. E. C. Hubbard returned from a business trip to Frankfort last Thursday.
Mr. Melville Eskridge, of Hardinsburg, was visiting his sister, Mrs. G. B. Williams, the past week.
Mr. C. J. Yager, of Litchfield let his Samborn countenance shine upon us last Saturday and Sunday.
Prof. Miller, of Owensboro, was in town several days last week. He tuned several pianos while here.
Daniel Wise, a former resident of this place, was shaking hands with his many friends here last week.
Mrs. Dr. G. R. Sanders, Miss Amanda Waide and Miss Sallie G. Warden, of Centertown, were visiting the family of Mr. F. K. Kimbly yesterday.
Mr. R. E. S. Pearl, telegraph operator, Greenville, Ky., spent Saturday and Sunday in this place. He was returning from the east, where he had been to purchase goods and to visit relatives. We had the pleasure of a call from him while here.
The "Busy Bees" were buzzing around the HERALD office Saturday. The society is composed of the following little misses: Isabelle McHenry, Genie Mosely, Fannie Hardwick, Katie King, Lottie King, Birdie Nall, Annie Bean, Lizzie Moore, Rosa Woerner, Mary Ellen Tribble.
A. T. NALL,
Secretary.

W. E. Parrish, of the firm of W. E. & I. N. Parrish, and C. W. Wilhoite, representing the wholesale grocery firm of R. McJohnson & Co., Owensboro, were in town several days last week. We had the pleasure of a call from them while here.
—Call on Tracy for all kinds of Farming Implements.
—Look out for the bargains at Anderson's Bazaar next week.
—Every Plow sold by Tracy warranted to do good work; all steel.
—Tracy keeps the best Plows in the market; all steel, and can be sharpened.
—The Holland Circle will meet at Dr. J. E. Pendleton's Friday evening, April 7, 1882.
White Lead and Oil for sale by Dan F. Tracy—for cash, cheap.
—Book Agents and lovers of Western adventures are referred to the advertisement of "Heroes of the Plains" in another column of this paper.
—Oh, Yes! Come and examine those riding and walking Cultivators, for sale by Dan F. Tracy; guaranteed to do the work of three one horse teams.
—Teachers whose schools were reported out by the 15th of February can now draw their money by calling on J. Edwin Rowe, School Commissioner.
—On Saturday, April 8th, in front of Court House, I will rent the grounds of the Ohio County Fair Company for pasturage to the highest bidder. The Company reserves the track. Renter will be required to execute good bond for the rent.
A. T. NALL,
Secretary.

—An infant daughter of L. T. Cox, of Rosine, died last Monday evening.
—Tracy is coming with a large number of Mowers, Reapers and Hay-rakes. Save your orders till he comes.
—J. A. Vandiver, wholesale merchant, Louisville, tried T. E. Riskey's pills in his family and so well did they act that he has taken a large lot for the jobbing trade. Thomas & Kimbley are agents also.
—Mrs. Mary Overton, McHenry, has just received a new stock of Millinery goods, also Dress Patterns. Mrs. Overton is assisted by Miss Emma C. Brown. Shop at R. C. Fields property. Give her a call and satisfy yourselves.
—Henry M. Stevens died last Thursday in the vicinity of Rosine. He got badly burned some six weeks previously and never recovered from it. His remains were interred on the farm where he was raised.
—Health, hope and happiness are restored by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is a positive cure for all those diseases from which women suffer so much. Send to Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, 233 Western Avenue, Lynn, Mass., for pamphlets.
—It's a daisy! What's a daisy? Why that Champion Sulky Plow sold by Dan F. Tracy. Call and see it turn weeds under as high as a man's head clear out of sight; also, those Avery and Excelsior Plows cannot be beat for excellence of work and ease of doing it. If Dr. G. W. Beeler, dentist, is in Rochester, Butler county, where he will remain until the 12th. Persons wanting work done should avail themselves of this opportunity. He will go from Rochester to Morgantown, where he will stay a week or ten days.

—Sam Maples, carpenter on the P. & E. R. R. at Princeton, was brought home a day or two ago a perfect skeleton from typhoid fever. We hope he will recover.
—Mr. S. Clark, one of Fond du Lac's oldest citizens, states: I have used St. Jacobs Oil and am well satisfied that it is a splendid article to relieve pain, and that very quickly.—Fond du Lac Commonwealth.
—We regret to learn of the severe illness of J. F. Ambrose, living seven or eight miles above town. He was taken with hemorrhage of the lungs a few days ago and is in a very critical condition.
—If the mother is feeble it is impossible that her children should be strong. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of women. Send to Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, 233 Western Avenue, Lynn, Mass., for pamphlets.
—Honesty is the best policy in medicine as well as in other things. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a genuine preparation, an unequalled spring medicine and blood purifier, decidedly superior to all others in the market. Trial proves it.
—Just received, a car load of wheat, at Hartford Water Mills. Plenty of flour on hand and they are expecting a carload of corn soon.
—The thorough-bred jack, Eclipse, will stand at C. L. Field's, 1 mile south of Buford. Eclipse is a black jack, fine form, large bone and good action.
Eight dollars to insure mare with foal. Due care taken to prevent accidents, but not responsible should any occur—money due as soon as mare is ascertained to be with foal or transferred.
C. L. FIELD,
318-14.

—Why will you suffer from Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, distress after eating and similar complaints, when 25 cents will buy Ball's Digestive Salt from your druggist or grocer? It is used at the table instead of ordinary table salt. See advertisement.
—We call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of J. Monroe Taylor. This house has been established nearly 40 years, and their goods are celebrated for purity and strength. We would recommend a trial of their Gold Medal brands to all who desire superior cookery.
—Mr. Z. Wayne Griffin brought to our office Monday morning a pair of elk horns, which had been shed Sunday night by the elk left here by Miles Orton. Mr. Griffin is going to fix them up over the entrance to the "Old Reliable" drug store as a compliment to Mr. Orton, who is quite a favorite in Hartford, and especially so with Mr. Griffin.
—Strengthen brain and muscle, cultivate nerves of iron, make labor easy and work a pleasure by using Brown's Iron Bitters.
—Dr. Foster's dwelling at Buckhorn, occupied by Dr. Howard and family, came very near being burned last Thursday. The fire caught in the roof and burned a considerable place before the flames could be extinguished. The fire and water together has damaged the house considerably. The building was insured with Barrett & Bro., agents in the Royal.
—Mr. Frank S. Mueller, 925 West Franklin street, cited to a Journal reporter the case of Mr. Henry Rhenick, who for four years suffered with rheumatism which was cured by the use of St. Jacobs Oil.—Evansville (Ind.) Journal.

—Orton's Circus will visit Hartford this season. The "GANDER" will HERALD its coming.
—Judge Burr P. Berryman has sold his house and lot where he now lives to W. M. Warden and will move this week to the Elvia Barrett farm, just below town, and engage in farming and gardening generally, and poultry raising in particular. We regret to lose the Judge and his family from town, but are glad to learn that we will hereafter have eggs, chickens and vegetables on the market fresh and nice, for Burr will succeed in this line certain.
—John B. Foster, Beda, is selling the following articles at the following low prices:
Eleven pounds of New Orleans Sugar for $1.00.
Eight and a half pounds good coffee for $1.00.
Calico, best article, at 6 and 6 1/2 cents per yard.
Nails, assorted, 3 1/2 to 4 1/2 cents per pound. Everything else in proportion. Give him a call and convince yourself.
—From the press of business we were unable to notice the very interesting debate between the champions of the Claytonton Society last Friday evening a week ago. The subject was, "Resolved that Gov. Blackburn has Abused the Pardoning Power." Messrs. Willie Berry and W. T. Bains, ably, ingeniously insisted that he has, while Messrs. Sammy Reuder and Jas. Smith stoutly and eloquently maintained the negative. Both sides waged furious war, but according to the decision of the Judges, Messrs. C. M. Pendleton, Sanderfur and Hill the negative won the cake, and the decision is very generally approved. The boys did well, and we hope they will soon give us a similar entertainment. We assure the young gentlemen that their speeches were appreciated by the audience.

—Died, at Cromwell, infant child of Will and Annie Cooper, on the 3d inst.
Death of Rev. J. A. Humphrey.
Rev. J. A. Humphrey, a well known Methodist minister, who, until within the last year, lived in this county, died very suddenly at Hardinsburg, last Saturday night. He was attending a Good Templars lodge, and was called on for a speech, and when the speech, which was quite short, was finished, he sat down and immediately fell forward dying almost instantly. He was quite an able preacher, and will be greatly missed in the field of his labors. He made the race for County Judge, on the Greenback ticket in 1878 in this county, and received a very large vote.
Wanted.
A good farm hand. Apply to E. T. Williams, or S. W. Anderson.
INCEST.
A Father Seduces His Daughter and Comes to Grief.
Samuel C. Lanham, living in Fordsville precinct, was arrested last week on a warrant sworn out by his son James Lanham, charged with having committed the crime of incest by seducing his daughter Nora. He forced her to submit to his beastly passion, so she says, under threat of killing her if she refused. It was only after assurance from her brother that he would protect her if need be with his life that she consented to tell. We understand she gave birth to a child. In default of bail, Judge Newton committed the prisoner to jail, to await an examining trial. The neighbors where he lived were, we understand, about ready to mob him when the sheriff arrested him.

Horton Mass.
Good teams can obtain steady employment here hauling stave timber for the S. S. Co., and make from $3 to $4 per day.
Mr. Wm. Palmer left last week for Indiana to visit his family and make arrangements to move to Horton.
Miss Dora Breeding is contemplating a visit to Louisville.
Mrs. G. W. Ray gave a "tea splash" last week to Mr. and Mrs. Martin, of Rosine, Ky. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Wymond, formerly of Aurora, Ind.
Violet says "the boys enjoy calico hops," which is quite right, but I'll venture to say that some of the ladies do not, simply because they say it is too dusty—hence the cause of their leaving at nine o'clock.
Mr. Warner Martin is slowly recovering from his recent spell of sickness.
Mr. Geo. Thomson has returned from the rural districts. Mr. Thomson has a whitlow in his finger.
Mr. J. J. Hyatt, of Louisville, Mr. Henry Metz, of Leitchfield, and Frank Wymond, of Wolf Pen, Ky., will be in town to-day to attend the annual stockholders meeting of the Standard Stave Company.
We stated last week that the S. S. Co. had contracted for four thousand cases of bolts, which should have been five thousand cords.

A SPRING on the farm of G. W. Hatcher, near Sugar Grove, in Butler county, becoming tainted, he began to investigate the cause. About 300 yards away under a small bluff a cave was discovered, in which, on a rough scaffold, a partially-dissected body was lying. It was supposed to be that of a man named Baker, who shot his wife and himself, near there last January.

Yesterday H. C. Ellis received the sad intelligence of the death of his brother's wife, Mary J. Ellis, of Santa Barbara, California. Mrs. Ellis's maiden name was Mary J. Neighbors and was an adopted child of Henry Thompson, near Hartford, Ohio county, Ky. They were married at Hartford, Ky., and moved to California in 1851. Jefferson Mo. Herald.

JACK JOHNSON, who shot and killed George Richards, near Ferguson Station, in this county, last September and subsequently escaped, was captured on the 13th inst., in Cumberland county, near Burksville, and brought here and lodged in jail last Wednesday. His captors, Dr. J. A. B. Huddleston and Milton Brannum, Esq., had quite a lively skirmish in taking him, but they looked like they belonged to "the boys that always get 'em when they lays for 'em."—Herald-Enterprise.

HUMANITY is the same world over.

In the majority for a long time and corruption will creep in. It is far healthier to have the parties more evenly divided. If the Democrats had a majority so small in this State that a full vote was required to elect their nominees, then the offices would seek the men, and good men, men the people wanted would be nominated for a week ticket or a nominee made by sell-outs and combinations as we now have would be defeated.

The Standard Hotel, Louisville, Ky., is now one of the best hotels in the place. It has been enlarged about fifty per cent, during the past year, has a new and spacious dining-hall, a nice reading-room, a very neat and comfortable reception room, an excellent elevator, and is perfect in every respect. The management of the hotel is unsurpassed, the fare good as appetite could wish for, and in every respect the hotel is perfect. It is near the L. & N. depot, where all southern and western Kentucky visitors reside and leave the city, and is very convenient, as it saves lack or omnibus fares. In short, the Standard Hotel offers more better accommodations for less money than any other hotel in Louisville. Do not take our word for it, but try it and be convinced.

AN editor sees many things that he don't say anything about, because he don't know whether the parties interested want anything said or not. We charge for locals in all cases where they are likely to be of pecuniary benefit to anybody. People frequently come around shaking us things that they expect to make money out of, and they want us to notice, but they don't say so in the right sort of language. We don't appear to understand them as they would like for us to do. Talk is cheap, but it takes a great deal of clean trained cash to keep a newspaper on its legs.—Jefferson Journal.

Is it a Farce or a Tragedy?

The Democratic newspapers of Kentucky have had their fun over the nomination by the so-called Union Democrats of Col. Jacob for the Appellate Clerkship. It is now seems probable, the Republicans adopt Col. Jacob, and the Republicans vote for him, his candidacy may become a matter of serious consideration.

In 1880 Presidential election the Democratic vote in Kentucky was 147,940; the combined Republican and Greenback vote, 110,020; Democratic majority, 37,920.

In 1876 Presidential election the Democratic majority was 62,454. In other words, in 1880 the Democratic majority was reduced about one-half; the Republicans polling 7,240 more votes than in 1876, and the Greenbacks 11,653. The actual falling off of the Democratic vote, 11,759.

We have not taken into the account the "Union Democrat" vote in the coming election, for of its strength we know nothing.

Has the change against the Democrats been going on since 1880? To-day are the Democrats of Kentucky gaining or losing?

These are interesting problems, and doubtless so in view of the recent proceedings in Frankfort. Democrats will lose nothing by giving the subject serious consideration.—Exchange.

Pink-Eye.
Below is a prescription we find in the Russellville Herald-Enterprise, and was given to that paper by a Russellville gentleman who says he has seen it tried often and knows it to be good. The prescription is for one dose, which is enough for any ordinary case. The medicine must be given one day after the horse appears sick, and the animal must be bled. He will be all right in a day or two. The following is the prescription: "Tincture aconite root, tincture digitalis, each 1 dram; tincture opium, 1 ounce; tincture ipecac, 1 ounce; tincture belladonna, 1 dram; tincture gentian, 2 ounces; pure rain water, 6 ounces. MIX. Give all at one dose to the horse."

An Arctic Navigator.
There has been for a century a determination to find out the way the earth looks at its extreme northern point. No such desire to explore the southern point exists, and cost what it will the secret the north holds in its grasp will be penetrated. The Jeannette started out bravely, but was crushed in the ice north of Asia, and now all the world seems determined to join in seeking the North Pole. Russia, England, America, Germany and Sweden will probably unite next year to send out a great expedition. All attempts to penetrate this region of ice and snow recalls the efforts of Sir John Franklin.

John Franklin was the youngest of four sons. At the age of fourteen he entered the navy and began a career of adventures and explorations of various sorts. He went to explore Australia, and was shipwrecked in Torres Strait. He was in the battle of Copenhagen and Trafalgar. He fought against the Americans at New Orleans.

In 1818 he commanded one of two ships that sought to make "the northern passage," as it was called—that is, sail from the Atlantic to the Pacific ocean and go north of America. The ships reached Spitzbergen, but that was all. In 1819 he set out again, crossed Hudson's Bay, reached York Factory, built a boat, ascended Hayes river, went overland 1,300 miles to Lake Athabasca, then north on Slave river about 500 miles. They were now on the Coppermine river, and here they wintered. In the spring they descended the river about 500 miles and reached the Arctic ocean, and voyaged westward toward Behring Straits 300 miles. Their return journey was filled with terrible experiences.

In 1825 he started out again to go over the same route—this time seeking Mackenzie river. They built a fort on Great Bear Lake and made ready boats and sledges. The mouth of the Mackenzie was reached and they voyaged along the Arctic ocean toward Behring Straits as before. It was deemed best to return to England, and here he was received with honor. The king made him a knight.

It was plain that there was an Arctic ocean from Behring Straits to the Coppermine river, but the rest of the way to Baffin's Bay—what of that? This mystery he desired to explore. After several years spent in varied honorable services he secured two ships, the Erebus and Terror, and in 1845 sought the "northwest passage." He was seen by a whaler July 26th of that year in Baffin's Bay, and then a silence settled down over his fate that was not broken for many years.

After a lapse of three years public anxiety caused a search to be made, and it was found that the two vessels had wintered in Barrow Strait, but that all trace was lost. Arctic efforts were kept up year after year, but not until 1854 was a trace of the missing navigator found. Capt. Rae made an overland journey and obtained several articles from a party of Eskimoes at Pelly Bay.

In 1859 Capt. McIntosh obtained the first definite information. A record was found that told the tale of the desertion of the ships, the death of Franklin (June 11th, 1847) and the attempt to reach Fish river, and so on to York Factory on Hudson's Bay.

The discovery of skeletons and relics showed that only a few succeeded; most of the party died on the way. Those that were strong enough to reach the mouth of the wished-for river perished there. So that this brave man lies buried in some unknown spot in the frozen north he attempted to explore.—Scholar's Companion.

DEAD BURIAL.

BY R. CAMPBELL.

By the path that leads
Through graves and weeds,
At the hour of midnight dark,
With face to the sky,
And his name still and stark,
The dead of the past,
That shines the day,
Scarcely alive as it passes near,
And checks its pace,
To look in his face,
Or wait in his face,
No words the speaker
His shadowy face,
That looks by his presence not
And drifts his form,
That drifts on his path,
That drifts on his path,
The dead of the past,
That shines the day,
Scarcely alive as it passes near,
And checks its pace,
To look in his face,
Or wait in his face,
No words the speaker
His shadowy face,
That looks by his presence not
And drifts his form,
That drifts on his path,
That drifts on his path,

The dead of the past,
That shines the day,
Scarcely alive as it passes near,
And checks its pace,
To look in his face,
Or wait in his face,
No words the speaker

Had this subject affected me and mine alone, I would not have imposed my affairs upon the public, but would have far rather concealed this shameful conduct of the Governor of my State. But it concerns the whole press of the State, and all of the people of the State, because it is a direct blow at the freedom of the press, and I cannot see it otherwise than my duty to give this publicity to it. As the editor of a newspaper, I am in the discharge of what I conceive to be a plain duty, repeatedly criticized in unambiguous terms the shortcomings and misdoings of Governor Blackburn as a public official. As a citizen, this was my right. As the editor of a newspaper devoted to the best interests of the people, this was my duty. In doing this I have incurred his sovereign displeasure. Other members of the press in Kentucky are under the ban of his displeasure for like offense. To protect them and all other citizens of Kentucky in the exercise of two of the fundamental principles of Anglo-Saxon liberty—freedom of speech and freedom of the press—as well as to warn chivalric Kentuckians of the foul blot which threatens her fair reputation, I have felt it to be my duty to publish this card to the public and to urge upon our Representatives to investigate the matter. I am ready to prove by witnesses unimpeached and unimpeachable, and who stand higher in the estimation of the people than the Governor, the charges herein contained, and I trust that for the sake of decency, for the sake of law, and as a rebuke to this unparalleled indecency to assassination, that Blackburn be required to show cause why he should not be impeached. I have endeavored in this card to express the intense feeling of disgust and contempt that I have for the man who would thus cowardly reward the cur who would stab him in the back, preferring only to state the charge and wait for future developments to direct my course.

W. P. WALTON.

A New Man Disposed to Concede.

From the Hon. J. H. Thompson, Hart Co., Ga.

HARTFORD, Ga., Feb. 10, 1882.

I want to say a good word for Brown's Iron Bitters. I am about sixty years of age, have warehouse, railroad and newspaper work to do. I have been taking — and various other kinds of whisky bitters to give me an appetite, and the only appetite I got was one for drink. Rev. Mr. Anderson, the presiding elder for the district, stopped with me not long ago, suffering dreadfully with dyspepsia. I got him Brown's Iron Bitters. They cured him. After he left I concluded to take that remaining in the bottle, and I assure you it has made a new man out of me. I have no desire for stimulants, and believe I could eat a pair of old boots and digest them as easily as rice.

J. B. BENSON.

Brilliant Wedding.

At the residence of the bride's father, H. C. McEwen, near Sacramento, Ky., on the 24th of March, 1882, the undersigned had the pleasure of uniting in the bonds of wedlock Mr. Will A. Thomas and Miss Leonora McEwen. The occasion was decidedly grand. A more intelligent and genial assembly seldom met in social assemblage. After the ceremony the couple received the congratulations of friends, and an elegant supper was partaken of. The morning after the marriage the bridal
